Associate Professor of Cosmetic Science
James L. Winkle College of Pharmacy
University of Cincinnati

The James L. Winkle College of Pharmacy, University of Cincinnati, invites applications for a non-tenure-track faculty position at the Associate Professor level. The College seeks an interdisciplinary scientist with expertise in one or more of the following areas: semisolids formulation, colloid, surfactant and polymer science, skin and hair biology and clinical testing of cosmetic products. Candidates must have either (1) a PhD in a physical science, bioscience or engineering discipline and at least five years of experience in cosmetic science or (2) an exceptional record of technical achievement and at least ten years of experience in the field of cosmetic science. The successful applicant will advise and teach in educational programs within the College, with major emphasis on the growing Cosmetic Science Distance Learning program. He/she will have administrative responsibilities in this program and also coordinate the development and operation of a Cosmetic Science Laboratory facility. There will be an opportunity to participate in the research mission of the College. Ample opportunities exist for collaborations within the College, the Academic Health Center, the Colleges of Engineering and Arts and Sciences and with a range of industrial partners in the pharmaceutical, cosmetic and personal care industries.

To apply, please visit <https://jobs.uc.edu/> and search for Job Req 8101.

Application: Interested individuals should submit a cover letter, complete curriculum vitae, and the names and addresses (including e-mail) of three references.
