

PCPC launching new INCI Application Portal

PCPC INCI Application Portal - New for You!

This is to inform you that PCPC will be launching a new INCI Application Portal during the first quarter of 2021.

What it means for you?

The new INCI Portal will feature an improved user experience and a modern look and feel.

In preparation for the new Portal, please keep in mind the following details:

- New login credentials will be required. Instructions will be sent via email prior to the launch along with the portal URL.
- Active INCI applications will be accessible.
- The new portal launch will not impact the timing associated with the INCI application review process.
- The extent of access to archived applications on the new application portal has not been determined. It is advisable to download copies of any archived applications of interest over the next several weeks for your internal company files.
- As before, new applications can be saved in-progress and submitted when finalized and payment has been made.
- Applications are locked for editing when submitted.
- Payment by credit card remains the payment preference.
- The new portal will generate invoices upon user payment.
- Access to the current portal will be closed once the new portal is available.

Stay tuned for further details!
